

Lewis & Clark Young Marines Instructions for Nametape – Service Tape – YM Patch/Unit Arc Placement

In an effort to clarify and simplify the instructions of the Basic Guidebook and the Registered Adult Manual (RAM), we have put together an instructional guide with photos to show proper application of name/service tapes and patches to Young Marine cammies. Please print and give these instructions to your tailor.

All tapes and patches are to be sewn with matching color thread using a straight stitch.

Service Tape (Young Marines tape) Contact supply@lcy.m.org for Service Tapes

Cammie Blouse-An olive drab service tape with black lettering will be laundered first, then sewn centered over the wearer's LEFT (right as you are looking at it) breast pocket, FLUSH to the pocket seam and FLUSH to the edges of the pocket. Excess is to be folded under and pressed prior to sewing. In the event, the uniform is small and the Service Tape extends past the pocket edges, do the best you can.

The "&" sign in "Lewis & Clark" should be directly below the shoulder seam. The round Young Marines patch should be positioned so that "Young Marines" is directly beneath "Lewis & Clark".

Cover (hat) Blocking (Optional)

Running a straight stitch seam with matching color thread around the top of the cover from point to point keeps the cover in shape and looking nice. This is strictly optional.
